The "Green Seal'd" Home

Cottage, Bungalow, and great mansion—all alike need Hanna's Green Seal Paint occasionally. A home may be ever so costly, and of pleasing architecture, but it must be kept cleanly painted at all times to really be considered attractive.

Using Hanna's Green Seal Paint is not so much an expense as an investment. It pays back a good deal more than it costs—in protecting property, in beautifying it, and in its satisfactory service.

ARTHUR DODD Writes Interesting Letter

Camp Taylor, Ky.
April 16, 1918.

Dear parents and all:

I received your letter yesterday. Was sure glad to hear from you. I took an examination, on Radio Work today, but don't know how I came out yet. Saw I had some time Saturday and Sunday. I went with the band of the 1st group to Bloomfield, Ky., 50 miles from here. The people paid our expenses on the train down there and fed us like kings; introduced us to lots of beautiful girls. We staid there from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Then they put us, 35 men, in autos and brought us to Louisville, bought our suppers for us and took us to the largest theatre in town. Then they brought us to camp. Such fine people you never saw. Every body said our homes are open to you. Anything you want is yours. If it isn't here, we will get it for you. What do you think of that, eh?

We went down there advertising U. S. Liberty Bonds. While we were there, there was an old gentleman poorly dressed came up with a little Jersey cow worth about $35.00. He drove her up into the circle of the band, we were playing on Main street, and the band leader stopped the music and ask him to get out but he raised up in his stirrups, and said: "Gentlemen and ladies, I have four sons on the Somme front in France to day fighting the blood thirsty Huns, and I wish I was able to go and help them fight but I can't, I am too old and broke down. But I can kill a German by helping our boys. So I am going to sell this cow to the highest bidder and the money received for her will go to the Red Cross funds. How much am I offered for the cow? First bid $100; Second, $200; Third, $250; Fourth, $375; Fifth $700 for this cow I am offered. $700, and there are men here that can write a check for $7000. and it would not hurt them as much as it hurts me to give this scrub cow. Another man bid on the cow and handed the old gent $1000 in gold drawn from the bank just ten minutes before. The old gentleman turned to a Red Cross nurse and handed her the money. Then after it was over we led a big parade thru town. There were lots of speeches made. One by a Lieut. of the Canadian forces who went to France in April 1914. I will give you some parts of it. 'Patriotic citizens, you are here, having a good time, yes contented, not afraid of anything happening to you, eating white bread, cakes, pies, and every thing else the Americans can possibly cook, and our boys in France living in mud to their knees, wet straw or the mud for a bed, eating war bread, beans and such things as they can get their hands on, and that very little. Facing one of the most blood thirsty enemies the world has ever known. In deadly gas most of the time and yet we think that the war will soon be over. What makes you think it will end soon? Friends, I will tell you the war will never end until every man and woman in the U. S. and Canada quit wasting food, by filling your stomachs on cakes, pies and other things so costly. Save the money and you will kill the Huns, waste it and they will kill our boys.'

Give Uncle Sam the use of your money at 4 1/2 per cent and stop the war or send your boys to the battle field for the next 20 years without any interest. Take your choice. Then he drew a telegram from his pocket and read:

Ottawa, Canada, April 7, 1918
Dear Charles:—
Your only brother was killed on the front, the 5th. (signed) Your broken hearted mother.
Then he said:
I am the last of five and youngest 22 years old. We landed in Paris the 17 of April 1917. All well and we were together until one day, I saw my oldest brother fall. I went to him, all of no avail. His head was torn off by a bursting shell and I rushed into the gas, from it and fell. Five days later I recovered from my long sleep, to find myself in a German hospital with my right arm taken off midway of the elbow and wrist and I had not received any wounds on the field. They did it to put one more man out of their way. So I staid until the stub healed, taking in every thing I saw. So one day I found a tank containing enough gas to kill every body in 50 miles. I watched my chances, laid-out my plans, then waited for darkness. When it came I stole to the tank, found three sentries and I found a rifle of a fourth one, who went into the hospital. I raised his rifle with my left hand placed it to my shoulder and fired. I killed one man and the gas from the tank got the others, for the bullet went through the tank about four feet from the ground. I made my way out as far away as I could then lay on my face, cut my coat tail and shirt tail and tied them around my head making a crude mask and lay there until I could see one sentry after another fall to his knees and lay down, I wound my way for three days through wood, marsh and every thing and at last came to a Belgian peasant who carried me to my own lines, more dead than alive. They treated my lungs and fed me and sent me home and I am telling the people what it is to be in Hell for three years with four other brothers and me be the only one to return. Don't stand back and say to hell with the Huns, but build the fire hot with your dollars and your boys will send every one of them there." There were other speeches that were good but this talk made more impression on the public than all the rest put together. This officer does not get any thing for his time, our Government is paying his expenses to help push the Bonds. Well, I guess this is enough for this time, write soon.

To be at his best a man must have sound refreshing sleep. When wakeful and restless at night he is in no condition for work or business during the day. Wakefulness is often caused by indigestion and constipation, and is quickly relieved by Chamberlain's Tablets. Try a dose of these tablets and see how much better you feel with a clear head and good digestion.
